

“In a few moments
I am going to be shot as a hostage....”

... let my friends know that I have remained faithful to the ideals that I have held all my life ... I would follow the same road if I had to start again ... Communism is the regeneration of the world ... Farewell, and long live France!”

—From the last letter of Gabriel Peri, foreign editor of the French Communist newspaper l'Humanité, written a few moments before he was shot by the Nazis.
