

MAY DAY

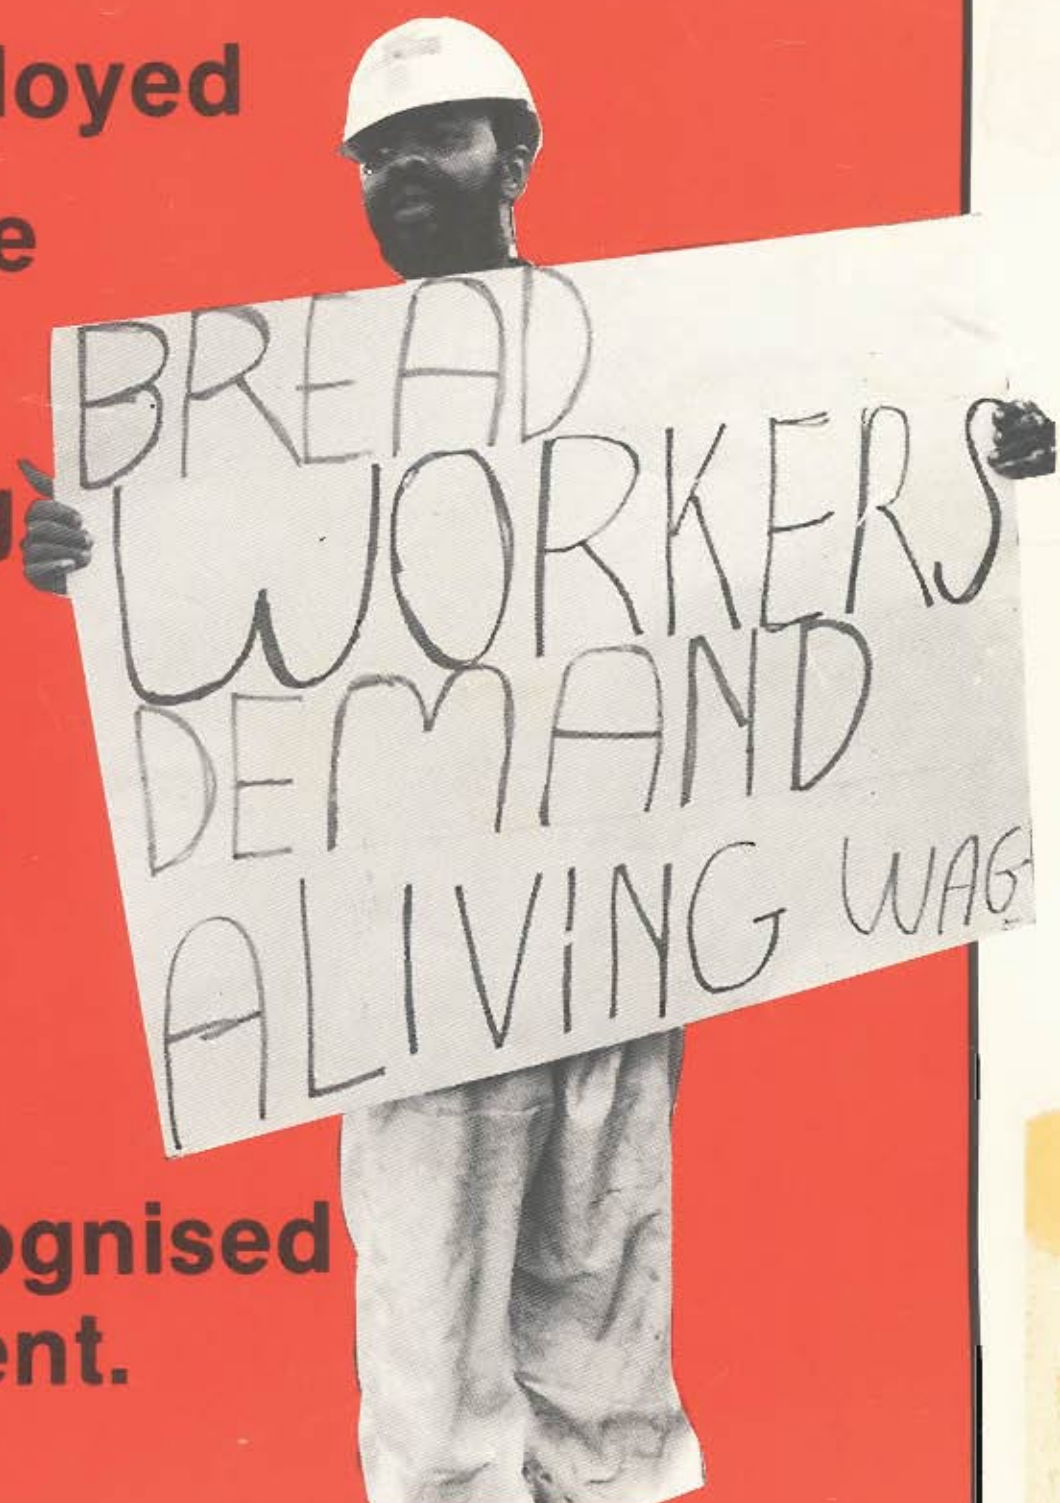

May Day is celebrated world-wide by millions of workers.

In South Africa on May 1st 1988:

- 6 million are unemployed
- 8 million are illiterate
- every employed worker is supporting 9 other people
- 5000 jobs need to be created each day.
- May Day is not recognised by the NP government.

- COSATU, the largest trade union federation in SA is severely restricted and repressive new labour bills aim to crush COSATU's effective role in building a non-racial and democratic South Africa.
