

MOZAMBIQUE

'The evil hand of apartheid forces has been active in Mozambique. The South African government has repeatedly allowed sections of its forces to violate the sovereignty of Mozambique. In spite of the Nkomati Accord, the security establishment has continued to support Renamo...

'More refugees have died attempting to cross the fence of death separating South Africa and Mozambique than died crossing the Berlin Wall. That fence must go...

'We must accept refugees from Mozambique, and recognise that we have a special responsibility in this regard because of the regime's role in creating devastation in Mozambique.'
